Orientation Program Report: Session 2019-20 at ITM University, Gwalior

1. School of Sciences: The orientation program for the School of Sciences at ITM University Gwalior was conducted on Aug 19-20, 2019. The objective was to acquaint new students with the academic environment, faculty, facilities, and rules of the school. The program included welcome addresses by the Dean and faculty members, an overview of the curriculum, laboratory facilities tour, and interactive sessions. Students were introduced to research opportunities and extracurricular activities available within the school. Feedback from participants indicated a positive response and readiness to commence their academic journey.

2. School of Engineering and Technology: The orientation program for the School of Engineering and Technology took place on Aug 19-20, 2019, focusing on integrating new students into the diverse fields of engineering offered at ITM University Gwalior. Key sessions included introductions to department heads, faculty members, and senior students, as well as an overview of academic requirements, labs, and workshops. Special emphasis was placed on industry collaborations, career prospects, and the importance of practical learning. Students engaged in team-building activities and orientation to campus life, ensuring a smooth transition into their academic pursuits.

3. School of Management: The orientation program for the School of Management was held on Aug 01-02, 2019, designed to introduce incoming students to the dynamic world of business education. Sessions covered the curriculum structure, specializations offered, industry interface programs, and career opportunities post-graduation. Faculty members and industry experts delivered talks on emerging trends in management, leadership skills, and the importance of holistic development. The program also included interactive sessions, ice-breaking activities, and campus tours, fostering a sense of belonging and enthusiasm among the new cohort.

4. School of Agriculture: The orientation program for the School of Agriculture was conducted on Aug 20-21, 2019, focusing on familiarizing students with the unique blend of theoretical and practical aspects of agricultural sciences at ITM University Gwalior. The program included introductions to faculty members, facilities such as experimental farms and research labs, and discussions on innovative agricultural practices. Emphasis was placed on hands-on learning opportunities, internships, and collaborations with agricultural industries. Feedback from participants highlighted a strong sense of community and eagerness to explore the diverse fields within agriculture.

5. School of Sports Education: The orientation program for the School of Sports Education took place on Aug 19-20, 2019, aiming to introduce students to the multidisciplinary aspects of sports sciences and education. Activities included interactions with faculty specializing in sports medicine, nutrition, coaching, and sports psychology. Students were briefed on the facilities available, including sports grounds, fitness centers, and specialized labs. The program emphasized the integration of theory with practical training, career prospects in sports management, and opportunities for competitive sports at the university level. Participants expressed enthusiasm for the comprehensive approach to sports education offered by ITM University Gwalior.

6. School of Nursing: The orientation program for the School of Nursing was held on Aug 20-21, 2019, focusing on preparing students for careers in healthcare through a rigorous academic and practical curriculum. Sessions included introductions to faculty members, clinical training facilities, and discussions on ethical practices in nursing. Students participated in workshops on patient care, medical technology, and emergency response protocols. The program emphasized the importance of compassion, professionalism, and lifelong learning in the field of nursing. Feedback highlighted strong support from faculty and readiness among students to contribute to healthcare delivery.

7. School of Pharmacy: The orientation program for the School of Pharmacy was conducted on Aug 01-02, 2019, introducing students to the dynamic field of pharmaceutical sciences at ITM University Gwalior. The program included sessions on curriculum structure, regulatory frameworks, industry trends, and research opportunities. Faculty members discussed the significance of pharmacology, drug discovery, and patient care. Practical demonstrations in laboratories and visits to pharmaceutical industries enhanced students' understanding of the application of theoretical knowledge. The program concluded with interactive sessions and
